Mercer Planning Board Releases Master Plan For Highway Changes

New Route One overpasses, highway bypasses around Hopewell and Pennington, Harrison Street as a county road — these are a few of the highway changes under consideration by the Mercer County Planning Board.

In a recently released report, Mercer County Highway Master Plan, county planners reviewed the area's roadways and proposed changes in response to Mercer County's rapid growth. The plan calls for improvements to existing roadways, widening and upgrading of municipal roads, and new highways over relatively undeveloped lands.

Princeton Regional Planning Board has scheduled a special meeting on September 1 to discuss the county highway plan, and Township Committee will either hold a special meeting on September 3 or will meet with the Planning Board to discuss the plan. Mercer County Planning Board will hold a public hearing on the Highway Master Plan on September 9.

In Princeton, the County Master Plan proposes to make Harrison Street a county road, upgrading its role in the area's transportation system. This would incorporate an extension of Harrison Street in West Windsor to Princeton Junction, necessitating a new Route One interchange.

The plan also proposes upgrading Princeton Pike to a county road from Nassau Street through Lawrence to connect with Princeton Avenue, a county road, at Route 206.

Responding to major improvements planned by the state in Mercer County, the plan proposes coordinating roadways with S-92, which the state intends to build from Route 206 north of Princeton to Route 130 in Hightstown.

New Director Chosen By Library's Trustees

Ending a nationwide search that began last January, the Princeton Public Library's board of trustees has named a successor to Robert Staples.

The new director, Jacquelyn Thresher of Tarrytown, N.Y., was one of three individuals interviewed by the board, after a search committee had reviewed 54 applications. She will begin her duties October 1.

Ms. Thresher, an assistant director of the Westchester (N.Y.) Library System, was awarded her master of library science degree summa cum laude from Rutgers University in 1971. She received a bachelor of arts degree from Florida State.

She has served as a consultant for planning, evaluation,

DOT Commissioner and Township Still at Odds Over Funds and Design for Harrison Street Bridge

Local and historic interests appeared to be at odds with Federal funding requirements at a meeting about the Harrison Street bridge held in Princeton on August 12. The meeting was attended by officials from the New Jersey Department of Transportation, Princeton Township, Princeton Borough, Mercer County and the Delaware and Raritan Canal Commission.

Princeton officials had previously called together various interest groups, including the D&R Canal Coalition, mayors of West Windsor and Plainsboro, and Friends of Princeton Open Space, to discuss the Harrison Street bridge design. According to Township Mayor Gail Firestone, in response to planning and safety concerns, there was a consensus of opinion that the new bridge should have a second sidewalk.

The proposal was flatly denied by DOT Commissioner Hazel Gluck, who later publicly explained her position in a statement published in full on page 22 of this issue of TOWN TOPICS. "I have made it clear time and again that I cannot, and will not commit one more federal or state dollar to amenities for the Harrison Street bridge."

"We're disappointed," said Mayor Firestone. "We had hoped that a consensus could have been reached. Federal funding versus local interests should not be adversarial positions."

"I think there is a lot of finger pointing by the DOT for holding things up," she continued. "The DOT is required to do certain things and the fact that they have not done them falls squarely on the DOT."

Some of the requirements the DOT has not yet completed include approvals of bridge designs by the D&R Canal Commission, the Office of New Jersey Heritage, and the Federal Highway Administration.

The bridge construction project includes two bridges, one over the canal and a larger bridge over Carnegie Lake. The bridges have been closed for two years after being declared structurally unsafe

Former Teacher Here Guilty of 2 Counts Of Sexual Contact

A former teacher who taught third grade at Riverside School for three years pleaded guilty last week before Judge Judith Yaskin in Mercer County Superior Court to two counts of criminal sexual contact.

Richard Donges, 30, admitted touching the thigh of one student in early 1984 and the buttocks of another in March, 1986. Both incidents of sexual contact occurred in a supply closet adjoining a classroom. At the time, the victims were eight and nine years old.

In a plea-bargain agreement announced by state Deputy Attorney General Mary L. Cupo-Cruz, charges of aggravated sexual assault and official misconduct were dropped. In pleading guilty to the lesser charges, however, Donges automatically forfeited his teaching post and will be disqualified forever from holding a public teaching position in New Jersey.

Donges has been sent to the Adult Diagnostic and Treatment Center in Avenel for an evaluation to determine if he is a repetitive or compulsive sex offender. The results of that psychiatric examination will be used by Judge Yaskin in determining her sentencing.

County Roads

This would include coordinating with improvements and partial relocation of Route 206 "consistent with Princeton's plans for improvement of Bunn Drive."

The highway plan cites statistics tracking traffic growth at a 10 percent annual rate in the Route One corridor and six percent along Route 130, while the county as a whole is seeing a two to three percent growth in traffic. The report claims that the county road system is "increasingly inadequate to accommodate the demands which are being placed upon it."

The highway plan indicates the scope of the demands with population figures stating that one tenth of the United States population lives within a 75-mile radius of the county and a total of 1.7 million people live within 25 miles of Mercer County.

Many of the county's proposals are in response to Route One growth. Overpasses under "active consideration" are at Meadow Road and at Alexander Road and the Penns Neck area. Locations of new bridges proposed by the plan include a site over the Delaware and Raritan Canal south of Port Mercer, near the curve in Province Line Road, and in West Windsor, over AMTRAK, replacing the narrow Clarks-ville Road bridge. Both bridges would be built to relieve bottle-necked traffic going to and from Route One.

A new Delaware River crossing is proposed between Hamilton Township and Falls Township, Pa.

Extension of Rosedale Road. On the outskirts of Princeton, an extension of Rosedale Road, beyond Carter Road to the intersection of Blackwell and Cold Soil roads, is proposed. The new county road would create a "regional secondary arterial route from Princeton through Pennington." The plan hopes this road would serve traffic headed to and from Pennsylvania and the growing ETS/Squibb area.

Several bypasses around towns and villages in the county would re-route traffic around Hopewell, Pennington, Edinburg and Dutch Neck. The Hopewell bypass would re-route 518 around the Borough from Aunt Molly Road to a point north of Van Dyke Road.

In Pennington, a proposed bypass routes traffic from the Pennington-Rocky Hill Road/Federal City Road intersection to State Road 31, south of County Route 546.

Another major highway planned in the Pennington area is a proposed state freeway from the Brunswick Circle on Route One to Pennington Circle, Route 31. Although this would be a state road, the county has considered the effects of this project in preparing the highway plan.

Canal Pointe Boulevard, the new road running parallel to Route One, south from Alexander Road, is proposed as a regional collector road extending to Bakers Basin. The plan concedes some design problems with the location of Mercer Mall and other factors.

According to the report, the county planners hope to strengthen the system of county roads connecting primary state and interstate highways to municipal roads and to pro-

Donges

Donges faces maximum fines of $100,000 plus ten years in jail on each of the two counts — the jail sentences to run concurrently, as part of the plea-bargain agreement. If psychiatrists determine he is not a compulsive offender and if Judge Yaskin finds mitigating circumstances, she could reduce the sentence to 270 days in jail and five years probation with psychiatric treatment and counseling. Sentencing is set for November 20.

In 1984, after the first assault allegation, Donges was the subject of an investigation by then School Superintendent Paul Houston but that investigation determined there was not sufficient evidence to report the incident to the state.

The second allegation, however, was reported to the New Jersey State Division of Youth and Family Services. Three days later, on March 17, 1986, Donges was removed from his Riverside classroom. Following his indictment by a Mercer County Grand Jury, he took sick leave and less than a month later, on April 12, he submitted his resignation to the Princeton Regional School Board. He also later resigned a teaching position in Delaware.

If Donges files an appeal within the next 45 days, he will forfeit his plea bargain and face a trial by the state.

Princeton School Superintendent Dr. Carol Choye described the incident and Donges's court appearance as a "very sad situation."

Mr. Staples announced his intention to resign last January, after spending more than 20 years as director of the joint Borough-Township facility. He arrived in Princeton in the spring of 1964 just as plans for construction of the present modern building on Witherspoon Street were being announced.

He began his tenure in Bainbridge House, which served as the public library for more than 50 years, from 1910 until the new library was dedicated in December, 1966. (For a look at

Of The Town

Hughes Will Be Honored By Lawrence Organization

On Tuesday, October 13, at Scanticon at 7:30 p.m., the Lawrence Division of the Mercer County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a dinner honoring the Honorable Richard J. Hughes.

The event is in commemoration of his career in politics and government. Mr. Hughes was governor of New Jersey and then was appointed Chief Justice of the New Jersey Supreme Court.

Albert Stark, president of the Lawrence Division of the Mercer County Chamber of Commerce, has announced that all proceeds from the affair will go to the Mercer County Chamber of Commerce Building Fund and the "Dollars for Scholars" program.

"Dollars for Scholars" is a community-based, volunteer-operated non-profit scholarship program that increases the amount of money available to local students, recognizes students' achievements in school and community, coordinates local scholarship activities and demonstrates a commitment to young people.

Former Governor Brendan J. Byrne will be master-of-ceremonies for the dinner. For further information and ticket reservations, call Albert Stark at 896-9060.

it was delayed to allow the Township to qualify for the low-interest state loan. The Township plans to refund about $6 million of its outstanding sewer bonds with the new state funds.

According to Mr. Dorward, once pre-award approval is granted, the rehabilitation project can be put out for a bid. Bidders have one month to respond, another month is needed for selection, and additional time will be needed by the winning construction company to gather materials to begin the project. According to this timetable, the probable starting date for rehabilitation of the first phase, the eastern sewer trunkline, would be in late November.

The SOC is in the process of replacing 7 1/2 miles of trunkline and repairing the collection system feeding the trunks in order to reduce ground water inflow and stop raw sewage overflows. The eastern trunkline, also known as the Harry's Brook line, will involve construction along Route 27 from the River Road pumping station to Poe Road, and then north along Harry's Brook to Gordon Way in Queenston Common.

The Township and the Borough are applying for $6 million each in loans from a new state Wastewater Treatment Trust of the N.J. Department of Environmental Protection. The state is scheduled to float bonds for funding the trust in October.

The new funds will not be available until the new fiscal year. However, the municipalities will be reimbursed for any expenses incurred this year.

Township Sewer Project May Begin in November

Construction of the first phase of the Township's sewer rehabilitation may begin in November. The status of the Sanitary Sewer Rehabilitation Project was updated at a Sewer Operating Committee meeting held August 12.

SOC manager Martin T. Dorward explained that the Department of Environmental Protection must offer approval of all plans before the Township can advertise for construction bids. This "pre-award approval" from a division of the DEP is the final stage in a complex application process for a low-interest state loan which will save about $1 million in interest costs.

Originally the first phase of the Township's sewer rehabilitation was to begin in July, but

New Jersey Tax Dodgers to Benefit From State's New Amnesty Program

During a three-month amnesty program starting September 10, New Jersey residents who owe back taxes will be able to pay what they owe without fines or criminal penalty.

The amnesty program, announced by state Division of Taxation Director John R. Baldwin, is similar to ones in 25 other states. Its goal is to raise $62 million in one-time aid to assist communities starved for cash and to help stem property tax increases next year. It ends December 8.

The amnesty covers only money owed before December 31, 1986. In addition, it provides for stiffer tax penalties against tax dodgers when the amnesty ends and for greater enforcement of tax laws.

Amnesty will be available to any resident who has under-reported income, has overstated deductions or has not paid or filed tax returns for any of the tax periods before January 1 of this year. Taxpayers under criminal investigation are not eligible.

"We're getting the word out you can do anything in New Jersey except evade taxes," said Gov. Thomas Kean, who signed two bills in March approving the plan. Gov. Kean had originally opposed the program but later agreed to it because of its tougher tax law provisions.

State officials are counting on $50 million in proceeds from the program to help cash-poor municipalities; the rest of the projected $62-million income will come from the state budget and will help pay for municipal police and firemen.

To taxpayers who can substantiate severe financial hardship, an installment payment plan, calling for 50% down and for 60 days to pay the remainder and interest due, is available.

Applications can be obtained from any state Division of Taxation office and at many post offices, banks, municipal buildings or libraries.

rehabilitation, the western trunkline, is ready to be put to bid next year, this phase of the project will qualify for the state funds, said Mr. Dorward.

The third phase, collection system repairs, has already begun. A three-person "in-house crew" has begun an investigation of the leaks in the system. The decision to keep this phase of the project in-house was made so that, "we can learn our system like the back of our hands," explained Mr. Dorward. He emphasized the importance of learning the system and having the expertise to keep the system "in perpetuity." Some of the repairs can be handled by municipal workers while pipeline repairs will be contracted out.

Borough Council Agrees To Study of 12-Foot Road

Borough Council voted to pay a consulting engineer up to $10,000 to design a 12-foot-wide road that would run from the rear of Davidson's Market west to Olden Street. The engineer will also be asked whether this road could be expanded to 28 feet at a later date. Plans for a 28-foot-wide road are expected to be completed next month.

Mayor Sigmund requested the new appropriation because of concerns about the acquisition of land necessary to build the wider road. Land would have to be purchased from the Community Guidance Center and the owners of the Karl Light property. It is understood that both have reservations about the new road, which would run across the rear of their properties.

Council's action followed a continuing discussion of the proposed land swap that would deed that section of Charlton Street south of William Street to Princeton University in exchange for land on the right-of-way from Davidson's Market to Olden Street and the alley between WaWa and Davidson's.

Councilman Mark Freda asked whether the Borough would have to pay for any soundproofing of the new road — soundproofing the University says is necessary to protect delicate instruments in the Engineering School. He also expressed concern that the addition of the Charlton Street land to the campus would permit the University to build more structures than presently allowed by zoning ordinances.

These, and other points, will be under discussion when the Borough and University sit down to work out the details of the land swap. According to Mayor Sigmund, much of this discussion will not be held publicly because it will deal with the value of the lands involved in the swap.

der mandated that counties and municipalities that use the Edgeboro Landfill, located in East Brunswick, Middlesex County, separate newspapers, glass containers and aluminum beverage containers from their solid waste disposal stream. Those municipalities failing to abide by the order would be excluded from using the Edgeboro Landfill in the future.

In accordance with this mandate, Plainsboro Township reminds residents of the schedule for recycling collection. The following information contains updated times and dates, as well as telephone numbers.

- National Waste Disposal, Inc., will provide curbside pick-up of recyclable materials to all residents, on the first and third Saturdays of each month. The fee for this service is $2 per month and can be arranged by calling 883-1420.

- BFI Waste Systems is offering curbside collection to their existing customers. Newspapers will be collected on the first and third Wednesdays of each month. Glass and aluminum will be collected on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. The fee for the service is $4 per month and can be arranged by calling 443-4818.

- The Conservation Center, located on Grovers Mill Road, near the new middle school, will accept recyclable materials that are dropped off by residents from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays; 9 a.m. until noon and 1 p.m. until 6 p.m. on Saturdays. All glass and aluminum containers should be rinsed of any food particles; labels may be left on the containers. Newspapers should be tied securely with twine in 12-inch bundles or packed in brown paper grocery bags. Magazines and other periodicals are not recyclable.

For further recycling information, contact the Plainsboro Public Works Department at 799-0909.

Tentative Settlement On J&J Storage Tanks?

After more than two years, has peace arrived between Johnson & Johnson and officials of Montgomery Township?

Under a tentative, out-of-court settlement last week, J&J has agreed to use railroad tanker cars instead of trucks to deliver a suspected carcinogen, potassium acrylate, to its diaper plant off Grandview Avenue. The company also agreed to submit to a full-scale review of its facility in eight years, after it obtains final approval for its operation.

In March, 1985, J&J first approached the Montgomery Planning Board for permission to build two, 80,000-gallon storage tanks and a 30,000-gallon tank on its property. It was denied by the board, which cited health concerns and acid emissions. J&J filed a lawsuit against the Planning Board three months later.

Under the tentative agreement reached last week, truck deliveries limited to Route 601 north of Grandview would be allowed if rail service along the Conrail line were interrupted or unavailable. J&J also agreed to pay for improving intersections of Route 601 at Harlingen Road, Route 206 and Route 518, and Route 518 and Hollow Road.

Planning Board member Donald Matthews noted that under the agreement Montgomery can require J&J to cease operation or install additional air filtration equipment if new scientific data raises concern about the safety of potassium acrylate or acrylic acid, the latter a by-product made during the manufacture of the company's super-absorbent diapers.

A three-person panel would review such a decision. The agreement also bans J&J, for a period of eight years, from seeking any expansion of the tanks.

A public hearing on the proposed settlement will be held next Monday, August 31. After the meeting, the planning board will vote on the tentative agreement.

Passenger Is Killed When Cycle Hits Pole

A Plainsboro resident was killed Saturday night when the motorcycle on which he was a passenger failed to negotiate a curve on Southfield Road and struck a pole.

Earl Bowleg, 32, of Quail Ridge Drive, was pronounced dead on arrival at Princeton Medical Center following the accident, which occurred just before 9. An autopsy revealed he had died from internal injuries. The cycle's driver, Dean M. Peronc, 28, of Edinburgh Road, West Windsor, was admitted to the hospital for treatment of his injuries in stable condition.

A search of the area failed to uncover any helmets, leading police to believe that neither of the two victims was wearing one.

The victims were northbound near the Cranbury Golf Club when the cycle lost traction on a sharp curve and skidded into a Jersey Central Power and Light utility pole.

No charges have been filed, pending completion of the investigation of the accident by West Windsor police.

$1,480, Jewelry Stolen From Unattended Purse

Cash in the amount of $1,480 and $200 worth of jewelry were stolen last week from an unattended handbag in a Jefferson Road home.

Police report the victim, a resident of Trenton, had arrived at 8:30 in the morning to take care of an invalid in the home, leaving her purse on a chair in the sitting room. When it was time to leave shortly after noon, the victim discovered the theft. It is still under investigation by Borough detectives.

A diamond pendant has been stolen from a Princeton Avenue home during a five-week period while its owner was vacationing in Europe. The victim, police report, had left the pendant, a one-third karat diamond in a gold setting, in a bowl in the living room. She discovered the $300 item missing upon her return Sunday. Nothing else is missing and police report there were no signs of a forced entry.

Two push lawn mowers, valued at a combined $542, have been stolen from an open garage used by the Princeton University Grounds and Maintenance Department, and a radio and equalizer, valued at $540, were stolen last week from the cab of a pickup truck parked in a lot at the rear of 41 Leigh Avenue. Entry to the cab was gained through a sliding rear window.

Between noon and 12:15 Sunday, someone stole a knapsack left in an office in Aaron Burr Hall on the university campus. Most of the contents were later recovered on a bathroom floor but $17 in cash was still missing, police said. They described the owner as a Township resident affiliated with the university.

Last week, someone yielded to temptation at J.B. Winberie's Restaurant on Palmer Square. Police said a waitress noticed that a patron had left cash on a table to cover his check but when she went back to pick it up the money was gone. Approximately $40 is believed to have been snatched up by someone passing through.

A man's "very old," three-speed, unlocked bicycle, valued at $20, was taken during the weekend from a porch on the north side of a Bayard Lane home.

A 1984 Buick valued at $6,000, reported stolen August 10 from the rear of an office building on Witherspoon Street, was recovered Thursday, three days later, in a wooded area off River Road. The car, which was locked and undamaged, was towed and turned over to Borough police. Township police were called by someone employed on River Road who noticed the car in its out-of-the-way location.

Parked Car Is Damaged By Vandals in Kingston

A 1984 Subaru parked last week in the Kingston Road driveway of its owner was damaged by vandals. Police report that the car's radio antenna and license plates were bent and that flowers dug from the front yard had been thrown on the hood. There was no estimate of the damage.

In the Borough, a first-floor window of a Vandeventer Avenue apartment was broken Sunday evening by an unknown projectile. Police said the 28-by-22-inch living room window is located on the north side of the building and that no one was in the room at the time.

Thirteen Fined Monday In Traffic Court Here

Thirteen Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court.

Martin M. Peterson, 26 Library Place, was fined $515 for driving while his license was suspended and $75 for a red light violation.

Four were fined for speeding: Richard A. Trakowski, 15B Devon Avenue, Lawrenceville, and Kun S. Lim, P.O. Box 1530, Princeton, each paid $70, while Roger S. Mitchell, 309 River Road, Titusville, and John Gigliotti, 452 Stockton Street, each paid $60. Mr. Gigliotti also paid $20 for no license or registration in possession.

For having an open container of alcohol in his car, Paul E. Horowitz, 665 Snowden Lane, was fined $215.

Fined $60 each were Frank P. Rowbotham, 8 Branchwood Court, Lawrenceville, and Jehangir Mobed, 69 Lawrenceville-Pennington Road, Lawrenceville, both red light; Raymond E. Thompson, 203 Loetscher Place, stop sign, and Bat-sheva Savald-Kohlberg, 156 Von Neumann Drive, improper turn.

Fined as unlicensed drivers were Irene Datchev, Lawrence Apartments, Princeton, $40, and Jared Dawson of Lawrenceville, $20. David R. Fish, 53 Clark Court, paid $20 for failure to make inspection repairs.

Two weeks ago, TOWN TOPICS reported that Percy Randall had been issued a number of criminal and motor vehicle summonses after he had been charged in connection with trying to elude police in a stolen car and last week it listed a number of fines assessed against Randall in Township Court for previous offenses.

Although his address was listed on the court calendar as 32 Redding Circle and police issued the same address, family members claim that Randall does not live at that address.

to 51 teams, are expected to compete.

Play will begin Friday morning at the University's Pagoda and Lenz courts and continue through Sunday.

The event is sponsored by the United States Tennis Association and Volvo North American Corporation. Players will be grouped according to ability, from novice to advanced. They will compete as part of a team in singles and doubles matches.

Winning teams here will earn the right to compete in the USTA/Volvo national championships.

Tournament director Jackie Kimball reports that some exciting off-court activities have been planned for the players and guests. An awards banquet will be held Saturday night.

The USTA/Volvo Tennis League is part of the National Volvo Tennis Program which involves play at the Nabisco Grand Prix and collegiate levels. The Sectional Tournament this weekend has received support from the Princeton University Store and Volvo of Princeton.

Tour of State by Bicycle Will Begin This Saturday

The second annual "Cycling Jersey" group bicycle tour will take place the last week in August.

Organized by Tom Pendleton, director of The Wayfarers, a non-profit bicycle-touring service in Washington, D.C., the tour begins at High Point State Park Saturday and ends 225 miles and six days later in Cape May.

The tour is recommended not only for individual recreational cyclists but for families as well. The $45 fee covers six overnight camping sites, daily truck transportation for baggage, "sag service" for those who have difficulty with a section of the route, a route map, commemorative patch and "Cycling Jersey" T-shirt. Family members enjoy a $5 discount and a charter bus will be available to return riders to High Point at the end of the tour.

The tour emphasizes the social and recreational aspects of bicycling with riders setting their own pace. Pendleton did a trial run of the route last year with 10 bicyclists ranging from 11 to 51 and is confident that the tour will prove to be an enjoyable one for all who participate.

Listen, Sarah...I know this is your busiest time at work but we have to make plans to go to Cohoes this Thursday.

What's Cohoes, Lynn?

A wonderful store that's opening Thursday at 12 noon in that new Princeton Market Fair on Route 1. You know... the place with the interesting architecture you like?

Great... but what is Cohoes?

Well, it's unique. I've shopped the original New York store when we go to Saratoga in August. It has designer labels and wonderful fashions. Great bags. A fabulous shoe department. Jewelry you don't see everywhere. Menswear too. And all at prices that save you money everyday so you don't have to wait for a sale.

It doesn't have those community dressing rooms does it?

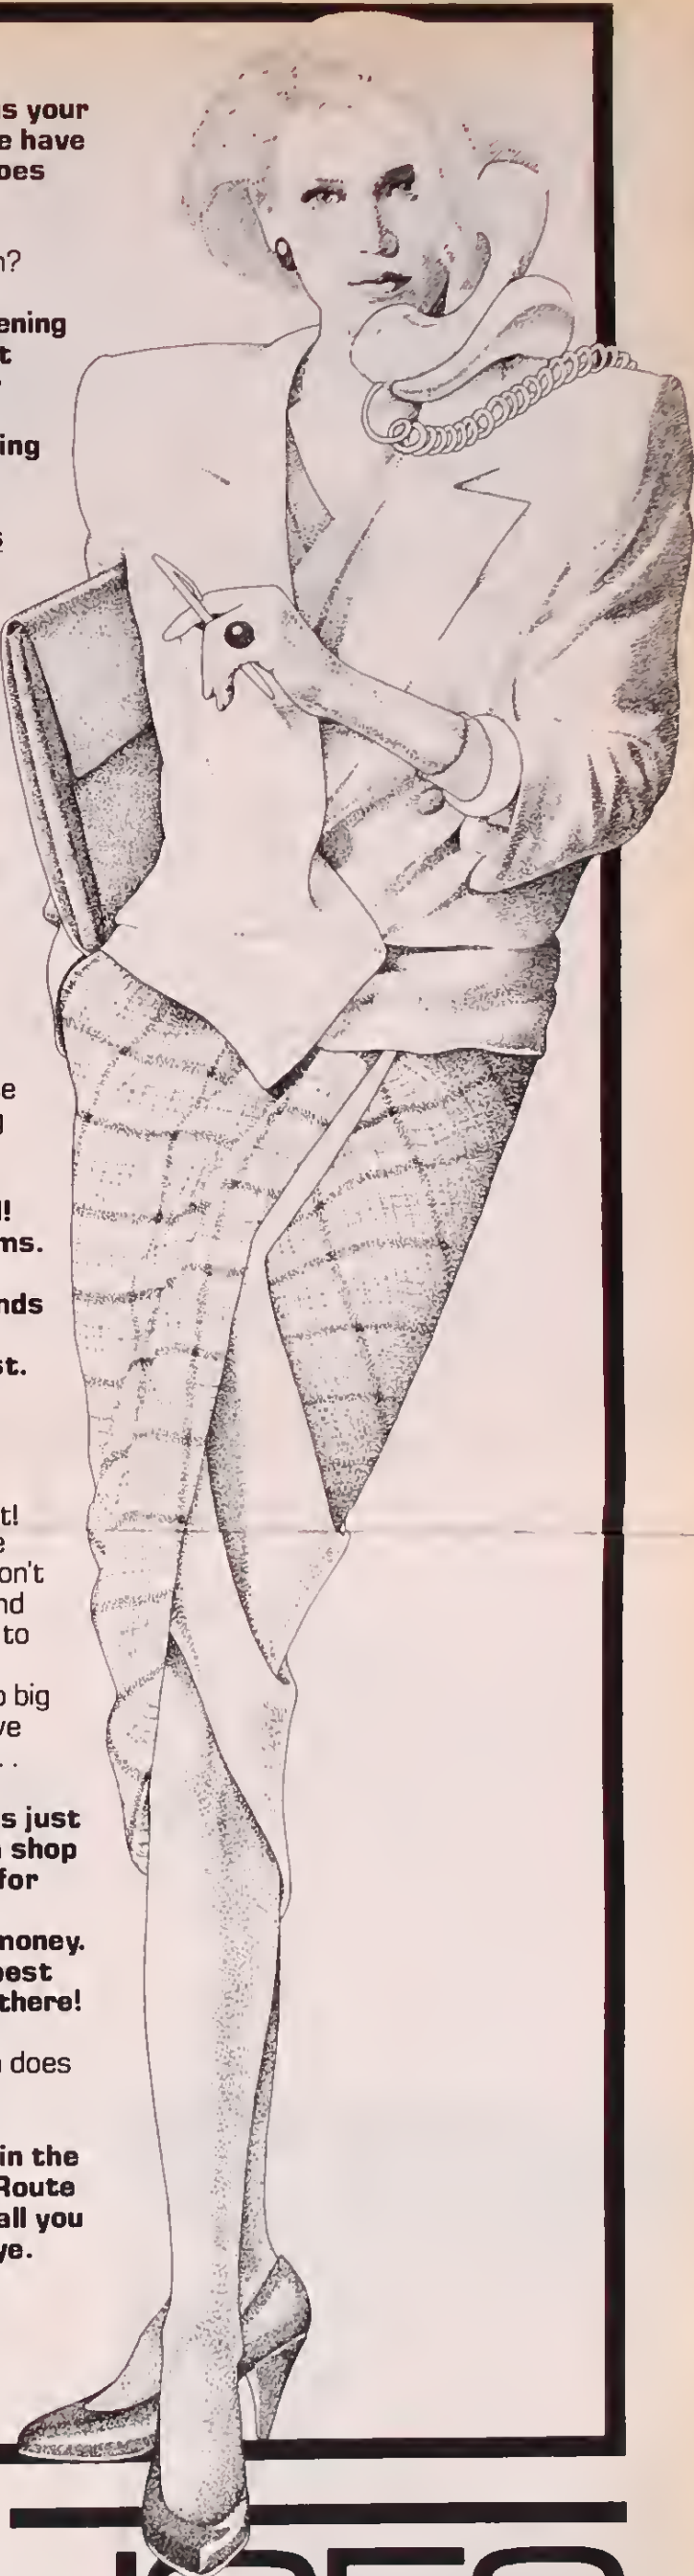

Cohoes isn't like that at all! It has private dressing rooms. Salespeople who help you. Cohoes doesn't carry seconds or last year's clothes... only the latest and the best. Plus the store is really beautiful so it makes me feel good to go there.

I sure could use that! With the job and the kids, I'm so busy I don't get to shop much and when I do, it seems to wear me out. The stores are either too big or too small so I have to run around alot...

Then you'll love Cohoes. It's just the right size. Plus you can shop all over the store and pay for everything in one place. Saves you time as well as money. But you know what's the best part? You'll enjoy shopping there!

Then let's go. When does Cohoes open?

This Thursday at 12 noon in the Princeton Market Fair on Route 1 at Carnegie Center, I'll call you later and we'll set it up. Bye.

44 Born at Medical Center Including 2 Sets of Twins

It was a busy, but not unusual, week for births at the Medical Center last week.

Forty-four births were recorded, including twin girls and twin boys. Twenty-three boys were born and 21 girls, matching almost exactly the statistical fact that on average slightly more males are born than females.

Another more local fact of life was also apparent, in that only two babies were born to parents living in Princeton. The other babies came from locales such as Perth Amboy, Flemington, Middletown, Spotswood and Dayton.

The twin boys were born to Ronald and Carolyn Link, 14 Mill Lane, Dayton, on August 9. The twin girls belong to Michael and Leslie Phillips, 7 Grant Court, Mercerville, on August 10.

Other daughters were born to Michael and Arie Nettles, 174 Thoreau Drive, and Ramiro and Lidia Estrada, 815 James-town Road, East Windsor, both on August 7; Theodore and Laurel Ann Shire, R.D. 1, Box 170B, Lambertville, on August 8; Scott and Bonnie Franzblau, 5 Jocarda Drive, Middletown; Dr. J.S. and Robin Smith, 523

South Main Street, Hightstown; and Gaetano and Maria Spera, 310 South Lehigh Avenue, Mercerville, all on August 9.

Also, Moreno and Lucia Peon, Apt. J13 Windsor Castle, Cranbury; Craig and Beth Wexler, 513 Edison Drive, East Windsor; and Timothy and Catherine McCarville, 90 Winchester Way, Somerset, all on August 10; Frederick and Karen Vail, 216 Beckman Lane, Neshanic Station; Joseph and Laureen Ramirez, 219 Steward Street, Trenton; and Fred and Lillyan Dylla, 4 West Laurel Drive, Lawrenceville, all on August 11; and Geoffrey and Lori Gettelfinger, 23 Nassau Drive, Lawrenceville; and James and Jane Baxter, 34 Model Avenue, Hopewell, both on August 12.

Also, William and Cynthia Treacy, 16 Sweetgum Lane, Monmouth Junction; Harry and Beverly Hart, Rt. 130 Crestfield, Hightstown; Stephen and Christina Rush, 25 Burd Street, Pennington; Raymond and Elvina Pettus, 35 Willow Court, Hamilton; and Stephen and Gilda Paul, 262 Jefferson Road, all on August 13.

Boys were born to Gooitzen and Jane van der Wal, 26 Fairfield Avenue, Lawrenceville; and Harry and Karen Slagle, 23 Hemlock Court, Flemington, both on August 7; David and Grace Baillargeon, 95 Hightstown Road, Princeton Junction; David and Randy Turchin, 589 Edison Drive, East Windsor; Garrett and Patricia Kirsinger, 19 Mirybrook Road, Hamilton Township; and Philip and Anita Olikara, 5505 Hunters Glen, Plainsboro, all on August 8.

Also, Gunnar and Mary Carlsson, 158 Herrontown Road; Marcello and Susan Rossi, 384 Rte. 156, Hamilton; and Norris and Betty Tindall, 6

Cedarville Road, Hightstown, all on August 9; and Doug and Christine Hlavecek, 12 Stockton Drive, Cranbury; and Kenneth and Kaheryn Korwin, 9 Temple Terrace, Lawrenceville, both on August 10.

Also, Thomas and Diane Hennessey, 12 Channing Way, Cranbury, August 10; David and Susan M. Marihugh, 3106 Rte. 27, Kendall Park; Charles and Kathryn Ruggieri, 401 Windsor Court, Somerville; and Gerald and Debra Daniels, 117 Prospect Drive, Hightstown, all on August 11.

The Mercer Council on

Alcoholism recently received an education grant for $2,500 from the Birth Defects Foundation of the March of Dimes Central Jersey Chapter.

The grant will provide support to the Mercer County Task Force on fetal alcohol syndrome, which will use the funds to conduct education and training programs for health and human services professionals, teachers, teenagers, churches and community groups. The grant will also assist the task force in its campaign to have signs posted in establishments that sell alcoholic beverages, warning pregnant women not to drink. In addition, thousands of educational brochures on fetal alcohol syndrome will be disseminated.

The mission of the task force is to educate the public that pregnant women should drink no alcohol. Fetal alcohol syndrome is the third leading cause of birth defects — and it is totally preventable.

Fall Registration Begins At YWCA in Princeton

The Princeton YWCA has announced its fall schedule of aquatics, gymnastics, dance, health and fitness, and other pursuits for adults and children. More than 16 community services are also listed, as well as special programs, such as After School, Artisans Guild, and Tribute to Women & Industry (TWIN).

The many fall activities may be explored on Family Funday from 1 to 5 p.m., Sunday, September 13. Adding to the festivities will be swimming (2 to 4 p.m.), refreshments, games, pony rides and bands. Most Funday activities are free.

For the upcoming session, Aquatics offers free-to-members Red Cross "Learn to Swim" for adults. Parent/child, pre-school, and youth instruction continues with low student/teacher ratios. Adult special classes include Synchronized Swim, Pre-Natal Exercises, and Water Aerobics.

Gymnastics involves parents with children in early training. Infants may begin muscle and awareness development and mature through pre-school and youth gymnastic classes. "Gym-antics" for girls and boys teaches cooperative skills and offers non-competitive challenges. The Gymnastic Training class develops the gymnast for the award-winning YWCA Pirouettes Team. Try-

The YWCA is a member agency of the United Way-Princeton Area Communities. Mail-in registration for the fall session is under way and will continue as long as space is available. Most activities begin September 14. For more information, call or visit the Princeton YWCA, 924-5571.

YWCA Opens Registration For After School Program

Registration is now being accepted for the Princeton YWCA After School Program for students in grades K-8.

The program will begin on Monday, September 14, and will follow Princeton Regional and Lawrence Township School calendars. There will be program sites at the YWCA building, the Community Park School and the Riverside School in Princeton and at the Ben Franklin, Lawrence Elementary and Slackwood Schools in Lawrenceville.

Transportation will be available for students attending the John Witherspoon School, Lewis Clinic, St. Paul's and other private and parochial schools in Princeton. In Lawrenceville, transportation will be provided from St. Ann's and the Lawrence Intermediate School.

A special kindergarten service will be offered during the kindergarten phase-in program. There is an additional $25 weekly charge for this service and enrollment is limited.

The YWCA After School Program is offered daily on a full-time or part-time basis, with a program available on most school holidays and on early dismissal days.

Hospital Rate Increase Too Little to Aid Nurses

expected to go before the state Hospital Rate Setting Commission to ask for an increase to the labor component in hospital rates. Such an across-the-board adjustment in the labor economic factor would provide money to be used by hospitals for nurses' salaries. But, according to NJHA officials, the DOH numbers fall far short of what is needed to cover losses already incurred for recruitment and retention programs.

"We're disappointed that the state is not providing appropriate compensation so our hospitals will be able to retain nurses and ease the pressure of losing those nurses to neighboring states," said Louis P. Scibetta, president of the 120-member hospital association.

17% Vacancy Rate. Results of a NJHA salary study of 90 acute-care hospitals showed a 17.26% vacancy rate among full-time registered nurses in the state. Of 11,849 approved positions, 2,046 were reported unfilled. Sixty-six hospitals responded to the survey.

"If no significant relief is put in place soon, many of our hospitals will approach dangerous levels of nurse staffing," added Mr. Scibetta.

The NJHA study showed the average hourly salary earned by New Jersey nurses to be $12.19, compared to starting salaries of $13.44 per hour for nurses working in New York City, and $15.04 per hour for Philadelphia nurses.

NJHA reports that hospitals have been forced to hire more expensive "agency nurses" on a per-diem basis. For the first six months of 1987, hospitals spent $14 million on agency nurses, 86% more than for the same period last year.

"All we're looking for is a realistic figure that will allow for market-place attractive salaries for our hospital nurses," said Mr. Scibetta.

Opportunities for nurses outside the hospital setting, relatively flat pay scales, and the demands of treating sicker patients have all contributed to recruitment and retention problems of nurses.

'Salute to Garden State' Will Air from the Square

The Princeton area Chamber of Commerce will sponsor WOR Radio's annual "Salute to the Garden State" on Thursday, August 27, from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. It will take place on the green, at Palmer Square.

Radio personalities including Joan Hamburg, Sherrye Henry, John A. and John R. Gambling, George Meade, Dr. Karen Blaker, Dick Oliver, Joe Franklin, Ralph Snodsmith, Bernard Meltzer, Shelly Strickler and Bernard Gershon, will be present to broadcast, sign autographs, and meet community leaders, government officials and other guests. Governor Kean is also expected to arrive during the morning.

A shuttle service from Lot 21 on the Princeton University campus to Palmer Square has been arranged by the Chamber. The shuttle will run continuously from 9:30 to 6:30.

Watershed Association Receives Project Funds

A $36,750 grant from the William Penn Foundation was awarded recently to the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association to begin work on the Delaware and Raritan Greenway Project.

The project is an effort to tackle a sensitive regional issue: the need to protect a network of environmentally significant pieces of land — "Greenways" — associated with the D&R Canal and other local waterways.

In order to train the staff in the use of this system, the library will be closed from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, September 2, and will open for service at 11:30.

SCROL will provide quicker and more efficient service for library users, providing immediate access to more than 500,000 books system-wide, the entire collection of the Somerset County Library System.

Plowing Match Planned At Living History Farm

New Jersey's only horsepowered plowing match will be held Saturday, September 5, at Howell Living History Farm in Hopewell Township. Ten teams of workhorses will be entered in the match, which features competition in fine plowing, novice plowing, and obstacle course driving. Pony rides, a pig roast, 'big hitch' driving, and miniature hot air balloons are all part of the day, which begins at 10 a.m. and lasts until 4.

Belgian horse breeder and horse farmer Elmer Lapp, of Kinzers, Pa., will judge teamsters on their performance, with Mercer County Administrator Walter Deangelo presenting trophies and checks to those who turn the best furrows. Visitors age 13 and up are invited to compete for ribbons in the novice plowing class, to be held at 11.

The afternoon program will feature obstacle course driving at 1:30 p.m. This is a timed test of teamsters as they guide their hitches through a series of furns, fords and back-ins. At 3 p.m., Mr. Lapp will assemble and drive a 'big hitch' — six or more horses driven tandem or abreast.

Children can make and fly toy hot air balloons from noon until 3, ride ponies beginning at 10, or visit any of the farm's animals.

Admission, parking and all activities, with the exception of pony rides, are free. Roast pork sandwiches, Kosher franks, corn-on-the-cob and beverages will be sold.

OBITUARIES

John J. Conroy, 79, 310 Nassau Street, a former coach of tennis and squash at Princeton University, died of pneumonia August 17 at the Medical Center at Princeton.

Dr. Conroy, who retired in 1973, was a cardinal figure in Princeton athletics for more than three decades, having served as varsity squash coach, varsity tennis coach and associate director of athletics.

A native of Newport, R.I., who learned to play tennis at the fabled Newport Casino, Conroy earned his A.B. (1932) and M.A. (1937) degrees at the University of New Hampshire, where his basketball expertise landed him a berth on the All-New England team. He also earned a doctorate in education from Columbia University in 1952.

Conroy's Princeton career began in 1939 when he came to the University as the varsity coach of squash and as assistant to Mercer Beasley in tennis. He became Princeton's head coach in 1942 but saw wartime service as a Navy gunnery officer.

Under his command the Tigers became the dominant power in Eastern college tennis, at one point (1960-65) running up 52 consecutive victories, the longest varsity winning streak ever recorded at Princeton. For two decades, Conroy's teams never placed below second in the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis League.

In 1969, he was named associate director of athletics and continued to coach tennis but relinquished his squash duties. In 1985, Conroy was inducted into the Intercollegiate Tennis Coaches Hall of Fame along with 14 other players and coaches.

Together with former women's varsity coach Eve Kraft, Conroy launched a community program in 1954 that became "a national pilot project for helping to improve tennis instruction throughout the country." Upon his retirement from the University, he founded the Lawrenceville Tennis Camp, one of the most successful tennis camps in the East.

Throughout his career, Conroy was actively dedicated to tennis far beyond his official duties. He was president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association and of the National Intercollegiate Squash Association. He was also active in the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association and for many years was a much-sought-after private instructor. He was a member of the Nassau Club of Princeton and of the Wingfield Club, an honorary organization of the U.S. Tennis Association.

Dr. Conroy is survived by his wife, Irene, who taught for many years at both Miss Fine's School and at Princeton Day School; their two daughters, Mrs. Charles Aymond of Jackson, Mich., and Mrs. David Vaughn of Hillsborough, Calif.; four grandchildren, a brother, Owen of Coco Beach, Fla.; and a sister, Mrs. Daniel Bowley of Newport, R.I.

There will be a memorial service this Friday at noon in the Princeton University Chapel. The Rev. Dr. Nicholas B. van Dyck will officiate. Memorial contributions may be made to

Commissioner Gluck to Mayor Firestone: Your Intransigence On Bridge Is Getting Expensive, Even by Princeton Standards

After my meeting last Wednesday with Princeton Township and Borough officials and representatives from Mercer County, the D&R Canal Commission, the Office of New Jersey Heritage, Princeton University, the Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce and DOT staff, I felt that it was time to restate and explain once again the Department's role in the replacement of the Harrison Street Bridge.

HAZEL FRANK GLUCK
Commissioner of Transportation

July 19, 1985, was a dark day in Mercer County history: the County Executive ordered the damaged, deteriorated, weight-restricted Harrison Street bridge in Princeton closed to vehicular traffic. Because Harrison Street is one of the major links between Princeton and Route 1, the impact of the closure was immediate and serious.

The closure was not entirely unexpected. The County had applied to the Department for financial assistance in the replacement of the bridge as early as June 1981. But, with no state aid program, and therefore no state dollars, we were forced to tell the County that we could not assist with replacement of the bridge at that time.

Having stated these simple facts, let me once again state certain other facts that seem to be lost in this continuous saga by many Princeton Township officials.

1. The Harrison Street bridge is not part of the state highway network. The bridge is under Mercer County jurisdiction. Mercer County is responsible for its maintenance. Mercer County officials closed it. Mercer County never did, does not now, and is unlikely to have in the foreseeable future, the necessary financial resources to fund the replacement on its own. Therefore, they asked the State DOT's assistance to find a funding source.

2. The Department has almost completed the steps needed to meet existing statutory and regulatory requirements which apply to the historical and environmental aspects of the bridge replacement, including the often quoted Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 as amended and a programmatic "4F" study of the construction area.

If pending action by either the D&R Canal Commission or the Office of New Jersey Heritage triggers completion of a lengthier "4F" study, no additional federal funding will become available as a result but construction on the Harrison Street bridge will be delayed by a minimum of 18 months. That is a conservative estimate of the time frame within which further reviews and approvals can be obtained.

During that hiatus, federal design standards, which are now being reviewed, may change significantly and could result in new regulations which would make installation of even one sidewalk impossible.

3. The existence of two sidewalks on the D&R Canal bridge is a direct result of the recreational nature of the canal park in which it is located and has no bearing on the number of sidewalks which are included on the Harrison Street bridge.

4. Repeated assertions by the Township that the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) would have approved two sidewalks, if we had asked them to, are groundless. The FHWA discourages sidewalks on bridges unless they are abolutely necessary.

Moreover, the FHWA actively discourages public funding of amenities which cannot be otherwise justified for safety and/or capacity reasons. The requested second sidewalk can only be included on the Harrison Street bridge if the funding is provided by a source other than the federal, state or county governments.

However, we will be ready to advertise this project in about 1½ months. If an alternatively funded second sidewalk is to be included in the plan, we must have the enabling resolutions in hand immediately.

5. If the County — not the Township — wants to replace the bridge with a structure that will not bear the minimum state-approved 80,000-pound load in order to reduce the potential impact on the Jugtown historic district, that is their prerogative, but they will have to build it without state or federal money. I am assured by the County that this is not their wish. The new correlation the Mayor draws between an 80,000-pound weight limit bridge and another sidewalk does not stand the test of reason, safety or engineering.

6. The Department presented the plans for the bridge replacement in late 1985, hoping to begin construction on the replacement during the 1987 construction season. During this year's delay in construction, costs have continued to rise. It is now estimated that the replacement structure will cost $3.4 MILLION, NOT $2.6 MILLION AS ESTIMATED ONE YEAR AGO. Because of the 80%-16%-4% funding formula, this delay means that another $32,000 from Mercer County, $128,000 from the DOT and $640,000 from the limited federal bridge replacement pot will be needed. Princeton Township's intransigence is getting expensive, even by Princeton standards.

7. While it is difficult to calculate the cost of this continuing delay to the motoring public, the merchants in Princeton Township who are adversely affected by the bridge's closure can easily quantify what it has cost them. Representatives of the Princeton Area Chamber of Commerce, as well as individual owners of businesses, have contacted me to express their concern about the delay in replacing the Harrison Street bridge. To many of them, the swift replacement of the Harrison Street bridge has become a matter of economic life and death.

I appreciate and share the Township's often expressed desire to maintain the area's quality of life and ambience but, as Commissioner of Transportation, I cannot adopt the Mayor's parochial attitude towards what is the public interest and where it lies.

I have made it clear time and again that I cannot, and will not, commit one more federal or state dollar to amenities for the Harrison Street bridge, especially when there are similar structures closed to traffic all over the state for lack of funding. My responsibilities are to the broad public interest, the entire state.

It is my sincere hope that Princeton Township officials will decide to serve the best interests of their town and the region by dropping their crusade for a second sidewalk and abiding by the agreement we all adopted months ago. To continue to stall the project is, at best, a disservice to us all and, at worst, places the entire project in needless jeopardy.

for vehicle traffic. They are located in the D&R Canal Park historic area and traffic empties into the Jugtown historic district of Princeton. Because of the historic nature of the area, reviews by the Canal Commission and Heritage Office are required by state and federal regulations.

The Township officials had hoped that the historic designation would qualify the bridge for additional federal funds. The D&R Canal Commission had requested that the DOT add a second sidewalk in a report made in February. This, and the use of wood on the rails, was denied by the state.

The DOT design of the bridges was to be reviewed for approval by the Canal Commission this Wednesday. According to James Amon, the Commission's executive director, the Commission had originally requested a wooden canal bridge similar to the Alexander Road bridge. This was denied and alternatives were presented by the state.

Although he had not seen the plans when interviewed by phone on Monday, he had received conceptual approval for the Commission's second set of design requests. The canal bridge is expected to feature a second sidewalk, wood-clad concrete on the outside of much of the structure, and a series of wooden pilings along the West Windsor shoreline, replicating those of historic swing bridges used along the canal. The actual plans were to be presented at noon at the Delaware River Basin Commissioner on State Police Drive in Ewing.

Commission Has to Approve. The Commission is expected to approve whatever is presented by the DOT. "We have to approve," said Mr. Amon. He explained that the DOT had made it clear that if the bridges were not approved, all future delays would rest on the Commission's shoulders.

"People should really be aware of what is happening on Harrison Street," said Mayor Firestone. "The weight limit is going to be raised. The speed limit is going to be raised. And if S-92 isn't built, Harrison Street is going to become like S-92," she added.

Mercer County has just published a Highway Master Plan (see page 1 story) which upgrades Harrison Street to a county road. The plan also supports Princeton's proposal of extending Bunn Drive to create an access to the state's proposed Route 92. According to Mayor Firestone, future Princeton traffic plans will route most Princeton-Route One traffic to Alexander Road and Harrison Street in order to divert traffic from Nassau Street in the central business district.

Local officials' attempts to justify the need for a second sidewalk to the Canal Park through the heavy volume of traffic that is expected to flow over the new bridge were not successful at last week's meeting.

"Township Committee is very sensitive to the inconvenience of the bridge being closed to the community and the area," commented Mayor Firestone. "We had tried to convince the DOT to request additional funding (for the sidewalk)." The State did not request funding for the second sidewalk because federally funded bridge standards do not allow for a second sidewalk, according to Commissioner Gluck.

Township Committee has not discussed the bridge since last week's meeting with the DOT. Added Mayor Firestone, "I'm not sure there is anything we can do about it at this point."

Prof. Robert Good of Rider College will conduct the seminar, which is open to the public. He is a graduate of Princeton and received a doctorate from the University of Wisconsin.

The seminar is a continuation of a series held at the church in the fall of 1986. Dr. Good will focus on some of the basic ethical problems faced by business and professional people in their day-to-day life, including whistle blowing and loyalty to an employer and privacy in employment from both the employee's and supervisor's point of view. He will also look at advertising ethics, deception in advertising, and the extent of corporate executives' social responsibility.

A question-and-answer period will permit those attending to explore various aspects other senior centers for the past ten years.

Each week, a short selection will be read in class from a selected biography. The life of the person will be discussed, and related slides or films will be shown whenever possible. There is no outside reading required, and there will be no tests or homework.

The fee is $25. To register, call the Senior Resource Center at 924-7108.

PROPORTION IS REALIZED ELEGANCE

The nautilus shell with its successive chambers spiralling, each chamber growing, increasing in size is a splendid thing of beauty as are well proportioned rooms of this gracious colonial 1800's house. Its series of pleasant rooms each merging gracefully from a paneled hall, the dining room with adjacent screened porch, library, music room, stepping thence into an impressive, high ceiling, twenty-two by thirty foot sunlit wing with arched windows with double French doors opening to a walled, brick-floored patio under a giant spread of leafy trees. From porch to the wing's fireplace the house's front axis measures bow to stern Columbus' ship Santa Maria, chambering into spacious comfort and beauty.

Let us show you a well proportioned house in Princeton's Western section.

SOME COLOR IDEAS

If you would like to add some brightness to a room, you might want to consider some furnishings in yellows. Yellow is the color of sunshine and that color can bring some sunshine to your home.

On the other hand, if you want to make a room seem quieter or more relaxed, try some blues or greens.

If you want to add some warmth and excitement to an area, you might consider some oranges and reds.

There are many things that the mere choice of color can do for you. Two identical pieces of furniture that are the same except for color can bring different moods and qualities to a room.

Don't overlook the fact, however, that a color is affected by the color it is next to, so be sure to use a color in relation to that to which it will be adjacent.

And, there are other considerations, too. For example, pale colors on things can make a room seem bigger since pale colors recede and give a feeling of more space, while dark colors come toward you and make an area seem smaller or more intimate.

We urge you to use color as a decorating tool, and we can help you select the colors and color combinations you want, in the places you want them in your home.

The following column, on occasional feature in TOWN TOPICS over the years, recounts highlights from the town's history, as reported in this newspaper.

TEN YEARS AGO

August, 1976. "It's bad enough to swerve off the road and hit a fence post to avoid hitting a deer that lopes casually away from your front bumper. But when you get home and discover your flowers and vegetable garden have been cropped down to the last leaf by a family of hungry deer, it's just too much."

Referring to the quote above, Township administrator Joseph R. Nini admitted he had heard plenty of similar complaints from angry Township residents. The Township, which had an ordinance prohibiting hunting with guns, was meeting with State Fish and Game officials to try and solve the problem. One suggestion was to allow a few hunters, registered with police and wearing distinctive armbands, to use shotguns in areas where the property owner had given his permission.

However, several residents were opposed to any use of firearms, and more meetings were planned with state officials for the fall.

Lawrence Benson and realtor John Henderson gained approval from the Borough Zoning board for plans for a five-story building at the corner of Witherspoon and Spring Streets. The Benson building had burned down seven months earlier in a spectacular fire that took hours to bring under control. Jugtown residents, (Markam, Pelham and lower Nassau streets) were upset about the unfinished Sheehan building, which had sat untouched since January, 1971.

They viewed the incomplete structure, which had its concrete frame, but little else, as a safety hazard for children and pets. The building had been the subject of years of litigation between the Borough and its owner, Timothy J. Sheehan.

A citizen's bond referendum committee got a first-hand look at the falling-apart state of Princeton High. Voters had twice rejected an $8-$9 million bond issue to renovate the decades-old building.

Defeat of the earlier referendum might have been traceable to lack of community involvement, critics said, and the school board was determined not to make that mistake again.

Short Takes. Paul Houston was looking forward to the opening day of school, his first as the new superintendent of Princeton Regional Schools. Paul Jennings was appointed acting assistant superintendent, chosen from a list of 112 applicants ... The Township accepted a gift of $35,000 from anonymous donors for creation of a Great Road bike path ... Joe Jingoli retired after 31 years of coaching sports, mainly football at PHS ... The Athenian Restaurant opened on Witherspoon Street ... Bob Casciola was hoping for better times, trying to lift his Princeton football team from a 2-7 record the previous fall ... Jamie and Jack Petrone helped Center Sports to a pair of wins over Conte's in the championship of the Adult Softball League.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

August, 1972. "The basic question is, 'Do we want it, or not?' " stated the Rev. Lefferts

SUMMER SIGHT MANY YEARS AGO: Twenty-five years ago when temperatures reached into the 90's on a hot summer day, the Public Library, then located in Bainbridge House on Nassau Street, was forced to close its doors. It moved into its own air conditioned building in 1966.

Loetscher, as the third public hearing on public housing ground through its allotted three-hour session before the Township Zoning Board.

The Housing Authority of the Borough, acting as agent for Township Committee, wanted to build 100 units of public housing (which later became Princeton Community Village) on 14.5 acres of wooded land bounded by Mt. Lucas, Ewing and State Road. A use variance was needed so developer Benedict Yedlin could build multi-family units in the zone.

Aligned in protest of the site chosen for the housing were 46 area neighbors, one of whom characterized the plan as "a cheap and shabby proposal."

A proposal to build a K-Mart on Route One near Meadow Road was rejected for the third time in less than 15 months by West Windsor Township Committee. The application was denied on grounds that the developers had not proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the commercial project would not be detrimental to the rural and residential character of the area.

Committee members also objected to the volume of traffic a K-Mart would generate, and the amount of sewage such a development would involve. A proposed site for K-Mart at the intersection of Route One and Quaker Bridge Road had been rejected a year earlier.

The board was sympathetic to the appeals of 60 township residents to maintain the present residential standards. Warnings against K-Mart ranged from problems of pollution and unwanted traffic to the presence of thieves, pick-pockets and dope peddlers.

The chatter of teleprinters ended permanently as Princeton's Western Union office at 29 Witherspoon Street closed its doors. The order, from the Federal Communications Commission, was expected to have little impact on Princeton customers, who rarely used the service any more.

The reason for the closing? It costs $5.25 for a 15-word telegram, delivered, explained longtime manager Martin Lippes. Nobody wants to spend $5.25 to say "Happy Birthday." For anything else, the telephone is much quicker.

Short Takes. Michael F. Carnevale was sworn in as the Borough's new police chief.

Princeton Summer Theatre Takes a 'New Look' At Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream

A LARGE DOSE OF MAGIC is provided by Puck (Kay Gayner, left) and Oberon (Peter Campbell) in Princeton Summer Theatre's imaginative version of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," playing for the next two weekends at Murray Theatre.

Surely you remember Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream? That's the one with the dashing, jet-set duke and his fiancée, both frequenters of the hunt club, nattily attired in jodhpurs, complete with riding boots and crops. And then there are the two yuppie, business-sulted male leads. Is one perhaps an accountant and his rival a junior officer at the local bank? From them we discover that "the course of true love never did run smooth."

And you must recall the women's bowling team — at least most of them are wearing bowling team shirts, though each one seems to be sponsored by somebody different, "Ed Spadonic Appliances Inc.," for example — who gets together to put on a play about Pyramus and Thisby?

Then, of course, there's the angry mother Egeus, who dons her L.L. Bean boat shoes, flannel shirt and what looks like a cuts and changes, and you will certainly recognize the more traditionally presented fairy rulers of the forest (Oberon, Titania and their faithful Puck) in this production marked by surprising transformations and economy.

Scenic artist Stephanie Dolan and lighting designer Allan Shearer, backed up by technical directors Brian Haynesworth and Randy Walter, have imaginatively, generously and efficiently provided a large dose of the magic in this production, with the bare downstage area (representing Athens) opening up to a multi-level and evocative enchanted forest upstage.

duck hunting outfit to venture out into the forest to find her disobedient, runaway daughter.

That's not quite how you remember A Midsummer Night's Dream? Don't despair. Princeton Summer Theatre promised us a "new look" at Shakespeare's magical romantic comedy for the last show of the season and that's what it is providing over the next two weekends at Murray Theatre on the University campus.

Words Are Familiar. Director Robert Gleason's resourceful staging of The Dream does remain faithful to Shakespeare's script, with only minor

The variety of textures, colors and playing areas — steps, ramps, platforms, a hillside and even a volcano emitting both smoke and the character Puck — along with the deft, variegated lighting effects do wonders in transforming the small stage and in creating a setting of romance, magic and mystery.

Gleason's economy is most evident in the casting, where a busy group of only 14 serves for what would typically be a total cast of 21 and at least nine male roles have been transformed into female roles.

Duke Theseus (Peter Campbell), his bride Hippolyta (De-bie Johnson) and their master of revels Philostrate (Kay Gayner) most effectively do double duty, speeding back and forth between Athens and the forest, where they appear also as Oberon, Titania and Puck respectively. Nothing short of Puck's magic could account for some of their astonishingly fast costume changes.

These three are experienced and talented young performers, who communicate the Shakespearean verse with understanding, ease and power in both settings. They provide a strong center for this production.

Gayner, who completes her self-introduction with a playfully puckish leap into the arms of Oberon, is well cast for an athletic, modern dancer's version of Puck, but her movements at times become distractingly frenetic and incessant.

Light on Love. Gleason's casting of Campbell as both Theseus and Oberon, and Johnson as Hippolyta and Titania, not only admirably displays their versatility as actors (Ms. Johnson, incidentally, little more than a week ago completed a successful stint in the major role of Louka in PST's Arms and the Man) but also sheds interesting light on an important theme of the play concerning the two sides of love: the formal, public relationship of the court and the wildly fantastical, emotional and freer interaction of the forest.

The roles of the six workmen, the "mechanicals" who gather to rehearse "most obscenely and courageously" and later to perform before the court their skit of Pyramus and Thisby, are played by six women.

For bully Bottom, the weaver, instead of our usual burly, coarse male, we have a small perky female (Jane Barish) clad in basketball sneakers, red knee socks, red-and-white striped shorts and her red bowling shirt. Her portrayal (after we get used to the idea) proves to be energetic and appealing as she leads her motley troupe with pluck and swagger, delivers the warrior-lover Pyramus with great aplomb, and sports the ass's head and entertains the bewitched Titania's amorous advances with a certain winning panache.

Judy Van Buskirk, Elizabeth Short, Alison Gray, Kristin Branson and Marion Sanders provide strong support in their amusingly eccentric assortment of characterizations of the other mechanicals. Their bizarre presentation of "the tedious brief scene of young Pyramus and his love Thisby; very tragical mirth," before the duke and his court provides a wildly humorous highlight of the play.

These four actresses also double as the minor fairies — Peaseblossom, Cobweb, Moth and Mustardseed — who, in another measure of economy, do not actually appear on stage except as light effects. The four actresses speak the fairies' lines (though not always loudly enough to be heard clearly) from offstage.

Among the four young lovers, whose fates become chaotically intertwined by their own passions and by the magic of the forest before Oberon and Puck finally help them to a reconciliation, Carol Kehoe's Helena stands out. Hers is probably the most difficult of the four roles, and Ms. Kehoe's fine comic timing and intelligent reading of the part serve her well. She delivers convincingly her many lines of rhymed couplets, the most artificial of Shakespeare's verses, and in her romantic frustration and baffled exasperation, she establishes an unforgettably humorous character.

Terry Coe as Lysander and Jurgen Jones as Demetrius, rivals first for Hermia, then for Helena, are more than adequate, though a bit pallid — and no wonder Puck gets confused in searching for the youth "in weeds of Athens" when Lysander's forest attire consists of Madras jacket, gold shirt, slacks and Hush Puppies.

Shelley King as Hermia has her moments, but suffers from some inconsistency, while Esther Jenkins, as her mother Egeus, transformed from the original father Egeus, contributes a solid supporting performance.

Lovers of a traditional Midsummer Night's Dream may experience some unhappy moments at this show, and the many transformations of sex and of costume undeniably cause occasional problems and inconsistencies, though none insurmountable "if imagination amend them." Shakespeare, who had to settle for men to play all his female roles, thrived on such intriguing dilemmas of sexual identity.

Princeton Summer Theatre has taken on an ambitious quartet of classics this season, and who better than Moliere, Shaw, Shakespeare and even Michael Frayn to provide exciting material for a young company to grapple with? Though the productions may at times have fallen short of our notion of an ideal, they were never lacking in rich imagination, creativity and distinguished individual performances. More important, perhaps, they have not lacked for sizeable, appreciative audiences.

Let us hope for many successful seasons ahead for PST, and in the meantime, don't forget to enjoy "a new look" at A Midsummer Night's Dream on the next two weekends, Thursday, Friday, Saturday at 8 p.m. or Sunday at 4:30 p.m. Call 452-4950 for information and reservations.

 The Wizard of Oz Cast

Children are invited to meet the cast of The Wizard of Oz at a "Brunch with the Characters" on Saturday, August 22 at 10:30 a.m. in Washington Crossing State Park Open Air Theatre. The characters are from the cast of the Pennington Players' musical production of The Wizard of Oz, which opens August 20 at the Open Air Theatre.

Pictures may be taken with Dorothy, the Tin Man, the Cowardly Lion, the Scarecrow, the Wizard, the Wicked Witch and others from the Land of Oz. Juice and snacks will be served.

Admission to the brunch is $2 per child, free for accompanying parents. Further details and reservations are available by calling 737-0731. Performances of The Wizard of Oz will be at 8:30 p.m. on August 20-22, 26-29, and September 2-5.

Summer Cinema Offers Trio of Foreign Films

Fanny and Alexander, Ingmar Bergman's final theatrical film, will open the tenth week of McCarter Theatre's Summer Cinema series, with one screening nightly Wednesday and Thursday.

A summing up of all Bergman's films, characters, and moods, Fanny opens on Christmas Eve, 1907. The protagonists are ten-year-old Alexander and his eight-year-old sister Fanny, whose world changes from the magical scene of a family Christmas to a dark fable after their father dies. Their widowed mother marries the pious local Bishop, who takes them all to live in his house of silent horror, where the children take refuge in dreams of escape. Fanny and Alexander is a fairy tale, ghost story and family epic rolled into one.

Summer Cinema's double feature for Friday through Sunday, August 21-23, will open with Bread and Chocolate, the 1974 Italian release that became one of the biggest foreign film box office successes in this country. In Franco Brusati's bittersweet social comedy, Nino Manfredi plays an impoverished waiter from southern Italy trying to squeeze out a meager living in Switzerland. As his mishaps grow increasingly degrading, he becomes a comic Everyman, caught between two worlds.

The co-feature for this weekend will be Bill Forsythe's Scottish comedy Local Hero. Peter Reigert stars as the front man for a Texas oil magnate (Burt Lancaster), who is sent to a tiny Scottish fishing village to persuade its residents into selling the drilling rights to their land.

Single admission to any double feature in Summer Cinema is $3.75 at the door. Screening times and further information are available at the McCarter Box Office, 683-8000, or at Kresge Auditorium during screenings.

MUSIC

Auditions Announced For Pro Musica Chorus

Princeton Pro Musica, under the direction of Frances F. Slade, will hold auditions for new chorus members for its upcoming ninth season of concerts. The choir of men and women, which is dedicated to the performance of large choral works with orchestra, will present its subscription concerts this season at Richardson Auditorium, Alexander Hall, Princeton University, and will also appear in two Carnegie Hall performances with the Opera Orchestra of New York and at the War Memorial Auditorium in Trenton with the Trenton Symphony.

The Carnegie Hall concerts, which have been arranged by an invitation from Eve Queler, conductor of the Opera Orchestra of New York, will include concert versions of Meyerbeer's Robert le Diable on February 21 and Giordano's Andre Chenier on March 13. On December 2, Princeton Pro Musica will perform with the Greater Trenton Symphony, Kurt Klippstatter, conductor, and the American Boychoir during the AT&T Christmas Concert.

Pro Musica's ninth season subscription series is being supported in part by a grant received from the National Endowment for the Arts. Pro Musica was awarded the NEA grant on the basis of artistic merit by a taped audition, quality of artistic development and management, and commitment to the quality of life in the community.

This year's subscription series will include three major concerts in Princeton. On November 1, Princeton Pro Musica will perform Mahler's Das klagende Lied with soloists Brenda Boozer, mezzo soprano, George Gray, tenor, and Marilyn Moore, soprano. Ms. Boozer will also sing Mahler's Songs of a Wayfarer and the Pro Musica Chorus will perform two Mozart works, Regina Coeli and Ave Verum Corpus.

On December 18 and 20, with soloists Margaret Poyner, soprano, Steven Rickards, countertenor, Frank Hoffmeister, tenor, and Kevin Deas, Pro Musica will present Handel's Messiah. The third and final concert of the season will include the premiere performance of the complete Sacred Service for the Sabbath Evening by Judith L. Zaimont with David Arnold, baritone, and Stravinsky's Symphony of Psalms.

Auditions are open to sopranos, altos, tenors and basses who have had experience singing choral music. The auditions will be held the first two weeks of September at the First Reformed Church of Rocky Hill. Singers should prepare an aria or an art song. Appointments for auditions can be made by calling Princeton Pro Musica at 683-5122.

Arts Grants Awarded To American Boychoir

The American Boychoir School has been awarded two grants by the National Endowment for the Arts.

One will support a national conference on choral technique for children's, boys' and girls' choirs. To be held in September at the American Boychoir School in Princeton, the conference will be aimed at choral directors from community choirs, schools and churches. The clinicians will be James Litton, conductor of the American Boychoir, and Doreen Rao, founder and director of the Glen Ellyn Children's Chorus in Glen Ellyn, Ill.

The other grant will support a consortium that will focus on commissioning new compositions for treble choirs. Three composers have been asked to compose one work or a group of works with a total length of eight to ten minutes. They are Ned Rorem, David Pinkham and Milton Babbitt, Princeton resident and long-time friend of the American Boychoir School.

Westminster Expands Program for Children

Westminster Conservatory of Music has expanded its 1987-88 offerings for young children.

The Kindermusik program, designed for 4-6 year olds, will offer mid-week and Saturday classes. It is a total music program encompassing a variety of activities that help children to understand the basic concepts of music. Emphasis is placed on learning to listen, not just passively hear.

The Suzuki program offers instruction in violin, viola, cello and piano. Its philosophy emphasizes the development of ability through imitation and repetition. Parental participation in lessons, group classes and practice time is vital to the success of the learning process, which may begin at age 3 and continue through the teenage years.

A new program, pre-piano class, is designed for children entering kindergarten in the fall of 1987 and 1988. Children will learn piano readiness through the use of games, motor skill activities, ear-training, and some hands-on piano study.

Walk in registration will be held September 1, 10 a.m.-4:30 p.m. and September 2 and 3, 11 a.m.-7:30 p.m. Program coordinators will be available to meet parents and children, and discuss the program. A Kindermusik Open House will be held September 2, 7-8 p.m. and September 3, 10-11 a.m. Information and a catalogue are available by calling the Conservatory office, 921-7104.

Ensemble Has Openings For Sopranos and Men

Mostly a Cappella, a choral ensemble based in Hopewell, has openings for several sopranos as well as a continued need for tenors and basses. Sight-reading ability is not a requirement, but singers should have a good sense of pitch and rhythm, and be able to pick up a tune quickly. The group rehearses weekly on Tuesday evenings in Hopewell.

Mostly a Cappella plans to perform a wide range of a cappella Christmas literature this season, including motets and madrigals, spirituals and jazz, and 20th-century works by Holst, Willcocks, Poulenc, Kodaly, and others.

Auditions may be arranged by calling director Norm Hurst, 466-9465.

Youth String Orchestra Slated to Hold Auditions

Auditions will be held September 20, 21, 22, for the 1987-88 season of the Greater Princeton Youth (GYPO) String Preparatory Orchestra. The preparatory orchestra has openings for qualified string players in grades three and above. Viola, cello and bass students are especially needed.

Auditions, rehearsals and performances this season will be held on the campus of Westminster Choir College in Princeton.

The GYPO String Preparatory Orchestra is beginning its ninth season and will be conducted by John Enz. The orchestra, made up of approximately 50 student members from five nearby counties in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, meets for weekly rehearsals on Thursday evenings. It will give two Sunday afternoon performances, January 31 and May 15, which are free and open to the public. This group prepares children to move on to the Greater Princeton Youth Orchestra, a high school orchestra conducted by Mark Laycock.

chestra conducted by Mark Laycock.

Hiroshima Anniversary Must Be Remembered

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I do not understand those who say they were offended by observance of the Hiroshima anniversary last week. Hiroshima does not have to be a matter of guilt, but it must be remembered. In 1945, we did what was thought necessary to end a long war, and to build for peace. Our leaders did well on both counts, within the limits of that time.

Since then, governments have grown used to the ironies of the nuclear age, but have yet to control its danger intelligently. Paper boats with candles may not solve the problems, but if they help to keep us human and aware, that is well done, too.

More Information Given On Street Name Origins

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Although I moved from Princeton 17 years ago, I still look forward to reading TOWN TOPICS each week.

I was particularly interested in the recent article on the origin of street names (TOWN TOPICS, July 8 and 15). My father, Joseph Caplan, a part-owner of the land now occupied by the Westminster Choir College, named a street on this property Harold Avenue for my brother. To the best of my knowledge this street no longer exists.

Probably few people know that Shirley Court was named for Shirley Wolman, whose parents owned Wolman's Department Store on Witherspoon Street, which later became Landau's.

Old timers will remember that more than 70 years ago Joe Caplan, Nat Wolman and a handful of other merchants pioneered in the development of the retail business district in Princeton.

Animal Control Officer Does His Job Very Well

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Anyone who has the misfortune of being bitten by a dog will also have the good fortune of meeting Mr. Alfred Heavener, the Animal Control Officer in Princeton.

When my son was bitten by a dog recently, Mr. Heavener couldn't have been more conscientious or caring. He even visited my son at the emergency room of Princeton Hospital. We are very lucky to have such a dedicated public servant.

All Seniors Invited To Join in Olympics

To the Editor of Town Topics:
For 14 years the senior community has been wined and dined on the Princeton University campus at Prospect. This community picnic started out as a combined effort with many helping hands and only 150 attendees.

However, over the past years the event has grown to over 300 participants and the total financial burden has fallen on the Landau family. This year Princeton University has agreed to assume some of the costs of this grand event.

Because of this generous gesture on the part of the University, the Princeton Recreation Department and the Princeton Senior Resource Center have

Manager Robert Smyth Brings Enthusiasm, Organization To Winning Slo-Pitch Team, Steve Ficarro's Auto Body

Last week the Princeton-based Steve Ficarro's Auto Body Women's Softball Team clinched the regular-season title in the Mercer County Women's League for the second year in a row, and for the sixth time in the last eight years. It has captured six of seven season playoffs, and this summer for the fifth consecutive year, it won the United States Slo-pitch Softball Association New Jersey state championship — a feat no team in the state, men's or women's, had ever accomplished before. The team is a champion.

Behind every championship team there is usually some essential ingredient that makes it click. Something that is more than the sum of its players. In the case of Ficarro's Auto Body, that something for the has added to the already successful team are administrative and organizational skills that keep on top of every detail. These skills surfaced when he was still a student at Princeton Country Day School and have been honed by 15 years in the state's Department of Treasury where he is a planner in the Office of Management and Budget.

Good at Organizing. "I've always been the kind of person good at organizing stuff," said Smyth. "I also really like people." If you can organize something where people are enjoying themselves, whether it be athletically or any other way, that is its own reward. You can't treat people like pieces of machinery.

More than anything, Smyth has instilled an attitude of the sheer joy in playing. "Last year," he noted, "we won everything and had a lot of fun doing it — which I always felt was the point of recreational activity."

"That stopped happening in '84 and '85. We were still winning, but we did not have as much fun." Tensions on the team, then known as Sweet Jersey Corn, reached the point where the players, unanimously, felt it was time to make a change. They approached Smyth, then an assistant coach, and asked if he would take over.

Smyth didn't hesitate in accepting. "Quite frankly, I was thrilled to do it," he recalled.

Better Attitude. In comparing the dozen years he devoted to coaching men to the last seven he has spent involved in women's sports, Smyth, who will be 45 in November, remarked he has found that "women seem to have a better attitude toward sports."

Even at a state and national level, he said, a level the men's teams he was associated with never attained, they leave the game on the field. "They could lose a heartbreaker in extra in-really close. They have a heckofa good time. "It's nothing I've done. The only thing I've done is I always felt this team could be highly competitive and still have a good time."

Started with HAC. Bob Smyth's interest in sports blossomed early. His parents still live at 321 Nassau Street and Smyth recalls watching them build the Harrison Street Playground which was right behind his back fence. His father taught at the old Princeton Country Day School on Broadmead and Smyth fashioned an arrangement, he said, with the headmaster to use the gym on Sundays in the wintertime.

He gathered four friends from the Harrison Street area and the five of them would go to the gym and play basketball.

In time, Smyth invited three or four other teams to parnings by a single out and it's over; there's never any finger-pointing, no matter how ex-cruciating the loss. They leave it there."

To be sure, smiled Smyth, "We do not lose that much." In state tournament competition over the past five years, Ficarro's/SJC has a 23-1 record. In the USSSA Eastern World tournament last September, held for the first time at Mercer Park, Ficarro's finished fifth among 48 teams — its best effort ever in that tournament.

One of the things he really enjoys, said Smyth, is to watch the girls on the team interact with one another. "They're past two years has been its manager, Robert Smyth.

Although Smyth had years of experience in coaching men's and women's recreational sports, when he was asked by the team members to take over as manager last year, he readily conceded that he was really not going to teach them anything. "At this level of competition, there's not that much coaching," he admitted. "Essentially, they're the same players since the inception of the team. All were excellent players in high school. Some played in college. They know what they are doing."

The way the team plays, says Smyth, he could almost draw the lineup out of a hat and it wouldn't make any difference. The team is hitting all through the lineup and is batting over .400 — almost .430 — as a team. "We score a lot of runs," he said.

One dimension that Smyth

Payton has gained over 16,000 yards rushing from 1975 through 1986, but in every year except 1977, somebody other than Payton has led the league in rushing ... Hard to believe, but true.

Bob Smyth

ticipate in some informal competition. "We played about 30 games and we got to be pretty good," said Smyth. The league expanded to the point where it moved from PCD to the Princeton High gym. From that early beginning, Smyth organized the Harrison Street Athletic Club (HAC).

The concept behind HAC, explained Smyth, was to offer guys out of high school who didn't go on to college, or those who came back from college, the chance to compete in sports on a fairly good level. In its 12- to 13-year existence, more than 250 men, he said, passed through the club, which was also one of the original teams to bring flag football to the area.

HAC also got right in on the ground floor, reported Smyth, when the Princeton Recreation Department came into existence, and Smyth worked with director Don Barr in the early years of 1965-67. One of the charter teams in the Princeton Men's Softball League sponsored by the Recreation Department was HAC.

HAC competed in the league until 1973. "We were a good .500 club," remembered Smyth. "We played everybody tough but we didn't dominate. Teague & Hinds and Conte's Bar were the top teams. It was a very competitive league. Some of the teams from that league are still active in Mercer County."

The HAC roster represented a real cross section, and it included standouts such as Billy McQuade, Richie Volz, Tony Bocciafuso, Robbie Staats, Coley Donaldson and Edgar and Ivan Riddick.

Smyth recalled one HAC player, George Gallup Jr., a catcher and a "big man behind the plate." Gallup, he said, once tried to break up a double play but instead of sliding into second went in standing up and got the ball right in the eye. When Gallup had to testify in Washington the next day, said Smyth, he had to wear dark glasses to hide a big shiner.

The HAC flag football team and its cast of characters became the basis for a feature article by Princeton Day School teacher George Packard in Sports Illustrated magazine.

1972 was the final year for HAC in softball. That year Smyth coached a women's softball team in Montgomery Township for a year as a favor to a friend, an experience he found "enjoyable." He also got married. "My wife," sighed Smyth, "was not interested in sports and that was the death knell for my involvement."

In 1980, a couple of years after Smyth's marriage had broken up, the owner of Andy's Tavern in the Princeton Recreation Department's women's softball league, asked Smyth if he would be interested in replacing the team's coach, who had decided not to return. Smyth, who had kept active by playing a little softball and ice hockey for the Princeton Hockey Club under Harry Rulon-Miller, recalled his pleasant experience coaching women in 1972 and readily agreed.

It was a way to get back into management and coaching, recalled Smyth, who said he had dropped out of men's softball because they began to take the game too seriously. Not to toot his own horn, said Smyth, but under his tutelage, Andy's Tavern became a much-improved team, one that finished a consistent second behind Mike's Tavern, the dominant team in the league. "We were competitive," recalled Smyth. A member on the Mike's roster, incidentally, was Debbie Breithaupt, a graduate of Princeton High (1976) and Duquesne University. She was a standout performer in softball, basketball and soccer at both schools. She and Bob were married in 1983 and Debbie is currently on maternity leave from Ficarro's.

While managing Andy's, Smyth met Steve Cohen, manager of the Sweet Jersey Corn team. SJC had started in the Princeton League, won the league title in 1978-79 and then moved up to the Mercer County League where it continued its winning ways.

Level of Play a Revelation. That summer, Smyth broke his pelvis in an accident, and, with time on his hands, he watched the Sweet Jersey Corn team. It was a revelation.

"I couldn't believe the level of play," he said. "Hitting to opposite fields, executing double plays, hitting behind the runner — things I hadn't seen except on men's teams."

In 1981 an SJC coach was injured and Cohen approached Smyth to ask if he would serve as a base coach for the team. "Quite flattered," Smyth quickly accepted.

During the next five years,

NO. 9 FOR THORNTON: Ruth Thornton defeated defending champion Donna Young last week to win the Springdale Golf Club's women's championship — her ninth in the past 16 years.

while SJC dominated the Mercer County Women's League, Smyth moved up from base coach to assistant manager and coach. When Smyth was asked to take over as coach, he also managed to find what SJC had lacked and was looking for: a single permanent sponsor in Steve Ficarro's Auto Body. Debbie Ficarro, who had played on Mike's Tavern and was a fan of SJC, suggested to Smyth that he contact Steve Ficarro. "He's been a great sponsor," said Smyth.

Under Smyth's first year, Ficarro's recaptured the league's regular-season title it had surrendered the previous two years, won the playoffs, and finished an impressive fifth in the USSA Eastern World Tournament.

"We were a winner before and we continued our winning ways," was Smyth's assessment.

Had to Back Off. Smyth still plays as a defenseman on the Central Jersey Hockey Club, continuing his love of that sport that began in his Princeton Country Day School days. He continued to play some hockey at Rutgers University, but any skills he developed, said Smyth, came when he played for the Princeton Hockey Club.

In the early '80s Smyth assisted Cohen in coaching the Sweet Jersey Corn girls' soccer team, which won the league two years in a row before it disbanded. He took up running and has run in marathons.

Including men's games and some coed tournaments, Smyth estimated he was involved in 100 softball games last year. He was out every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. "It got to be too much, I had to back off some," he admitted.

Pre-season practices three times a week for Ficarro's start in March. The season runs from the end of April through August but a good team like Ficarro's will continue playing in tournaments in September.

Despite the demands of managing and all its attendant details, Smyth still finds the time to write all the press releases for Ficarro's and the Central Jersey Hockey Club. Each one is neatly typed, containing game highlights, comments and the schedule of upcoming contests. They illustrate, he agreed, his background in English in school and his love for detail and organization.

In his release reporting Ficarro's capture of the league championship, Smyth wrote, "I give our players a lot of credit for being successful at the highest levels of competition, while at the same time enjoying themselves."

Anyone who has watched Bob Smyth in action would insist that at least part of the credit for success and enjoyment should go to him.

Thornton Reclaims Title At Springdale — Her 9th

Ruth Thornton used a hot putter to defeat defending champion Donna Young on the 18th hole to win the women's championship at Springdale Golf Club last week. For Thornton, who last won the title in 1982, it was her ninth Springdale championship during the past 16 years.

"My putter worked like a dream with some real saves," said Thornton, after her victory.

Others who qualified for the championship flight were Jackie O'Neil, Debbie Pierson, Kate Litvack, Claire Parsells and Mimi Frantz. Kay Rodriguez won the consolation flight.

The first flight was won by Jeanne Silvester, who defeated Audrey Gates on the final hole. Others in the flight were Jean Petrone, Jean Brown, Rose Johnson, Betty Sanford, Ginny Selden and Sybil Hargraves.

TREES AND POLLUTANTS (continued)

with Sam DeTuro
Woodwinds Associates

Particulate pollutants, as well as gaseous emissions, have an impact on vegetation. Trace metals form significant parts of total suspended particles; some of these, such as Iron (Fe), Copper (Cu), or Zinc (Zn), are essential for plant growth at low concentrations. However, excess of these elements may be damaging to plants. Others, such as Lead (Pb), Cadmium (Cd), Nickel (Ni) and Arsenic (As), may be especially hazardous to plants in the immediate neighborhood of industries emitting them.

Salt used for de-icing roadways in winter has been recognized for the past several decades as a factor contributing to the decline of trees in northern United States cities. Basically, two types of problems arise from de-icing salts: (1) salt which leaches through the soil into the root system and (2) salt spray on above-ground parts.

In the space allotted, I have tried to present an overview of the various types of atmospheric pollution that are likely to cause problems for woody species in urban environments. On an optimistic note, I can report that with at least one pollutant, sulfur dioxide, legislation has enforced diminution of emissions to the point that trees and other receptors are no longer endangered in some areas. However, years of control efforts have not yet reduced other pollutants, such as ozone, to acceptable limits. Until the time when all atmospheric pollutants are reduced or eliminated, our best hope for continued growth of urban trees is through the use of tolerant species, whenever possible.

To keep your trees and shrubs healthy, give Woodwinds a call at 924-3500.

SPRINGDALE FINALISTS: John Gianacaci (right) defeated Willy Rosso, 6-and-5, last week to win the Springdale Golf Club championship for the fifth time.

Ficarro's Is Champion For 6th Time in Softball

For the sixth time in the past eight years, Steve Ficarro's Auto Body has won the regular-season league championship of the Mercer County Women's Softball League. With two wins in its last two outings, the Princeton-based Ficarro's finished 25-2, one game ahead of 3 Seasons Sporting Goods and Grove Plumbing which ended tied for second at 24-3.

After a first-round bye, playoff action for Ficarro's will begin Thursday at 6:30 at Mercer County Park's Field 2.

Ficarro's manager, Robert Smyth, not surprisingly, said he was pleased with the team's performance and the completion of another successful season — his second as manager. "We accomplished our two main goals this season," observed Smyth. "Repeating as league champs and defending our USSSA state championship for the fifth straight time. Now we are looking forward to the league playoffs and our Labor Day Weekend trip to Cincinnati to participate in the USSSA Eastern World Tournament."

Ficarro's clinched the league title last week with a 6-1 victory over Dot's Girls and a 6-4 triumph over Jen Creighton's Auto and Towing.

In the win over Dot's, Dee Discavage paced the hitting with three hits in three at-bats and three runs batted in. Doreen Ragazzo added two hits and Grace Durland contributed a double.

In the Creighton win, Ficarro's led, only to see Creighton's cut its lead to 5-4 going into the top of the last inning. Ficarro's then added an insurance run when, with two out, Cindy Lombardo and Janet Swick singled and Durland drove in Lombardo with the sixth run. Clare Baxter was the winning pitcher in both games.

Fifth Title for Gianacaci, Springdale Champ Again

John Gianacaci won his fifth men's Springdale Golf Club championship last week when he defeated Willy Rosso, six and five, in the title round. The two were finalists in 1983 when Gianacaci won that year, too. The championship match consisted of 36 holes played in one day — in 95 degree heat.

The medalists were Dave Shilleber and Gianacaci with 74's. Winner of the consolation flight was Jim Litvaek.

There were five other flights of eight based on handicaps played from scratch. The winners were: Larry Pierson over Rob Hargraves in the first flight; Wendell Breithaupt over Jack O'Neil in the second; Sandy Robertson over John Zvocek in the third; Cherley Bardwell over Bill Gates in the fourth and Ross Schrader over Arthur Yord in the fifth.

Going Back

replacing Peter J. McCrohan, who stepped down after a 37-year career on the force ... Nassau Street from Harrison to Bayard was repaved for the first time in 28 years, creating lengthy detours and traffic jams ... The Chapin School was set to move into its new building on Princeton Pike ...

A new drug center to be known as "Corner House" opened its doors at the corner of Witherspoon Street and Henry Avenue ... Peter H. Raymond, Cherry Valley Road, was off to the Olympics in West Germany as a member of the eight-oared crew ... Libby Hicks won the girls 14-and-under tennis title in the Lower Merion Championships ... Borough bar owners asked Council for a 2 a.m. closing, instead of midnight and Sunday hours ... Post 76 named its first woman commander, Georgia L. Johnson, in its 52-year history ... Township Committee began hearings on an ordinance, which was passed a month later, to ban the discharge of firearms in the Township. Opponents of the proposal said that deer, already a problem, would become more of one.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

August, 1962. Plans were announced for a $1,000,000 renovation and expansion of Princeton Hospital, according to an announcement by John H. Wallace, Jr., president of the board of trustees.

Plans called for remodeling and enlarging the maternity department, moving and enlarging pediatrics, modernizing the laboratory and x-ray departments and adding space to the dietary and laundry departments.

A new 10-bed intensive-care unit was to be built to provide concentrated nursing care for critically ill patients.

During the dog days of August talk among local officials centered around the lack of recreation facilities in the Borough and Township. Recreation in Princeton was a year round problem, with the University owning the only available facilities, such as a pool, tennis courts and an ice skating rink. The Princeton High playing field offered the only regulation size baseball diamond for public use.

Talk of a Joint Recreation Commission was going around and a huge area of undeveloped land near Township Hall was eyed for a "community park," where softball fields, tennis courts and a pool might be built.

Borough police, led by Lt. Francis J. Maguire, had a new weapon to help them in their battle to catch speeders. The first radar units had been bought, and were ready to be put into use immediately on town streets.

The equipment consisted of a radar eye, mounted on a three-foot tripod by the side of the road. The speed of an approaching car would be registered on a speedometer on the unit and also on a printed graph for use in court. The patrolman operating the unit would radio another officer stationed in a patrol car further down the road to stop those drivers exceeding the speed limit.

Township police reporting on two auto accidents involving deer in one week, cautioned motorists that August was the time that does begin to wander with their new fawns from one place to another. The new families have been pretty stationary until this point, but will cross Township roads more often from now on.

On the business scene 25 years ago, but gone today: Yeoman's Liquor, 108 Nassau; Male's Book Shop, 203 Nassau; The French Shop, 20 Nassau; Lyons Market, 8 Nassau; Mayme Mead, 188 Nassau; Mary Gill, 230 Nassau; The Little Gallery, 39 Palmer Square; Hawley's Meat Market, 237

Witherspoon; Food Mart, 20 Witherspoon Street; Renwicks, 50 Nassau; The Thorne Pharmacy, 168 Nassau; Lahiere-Kane Cars, 15-27 Spring Street; Stone's Linen Shop, 20 Nassau; Elise Goupil Dresses, 366 Nassau; Douglas MacDaid, 20 Nassau; and Farr Hardware, 138 Nassau.

40 YEARS AGO

August, 1947. The heads of the four veterans' organizations in Princeton launched a united campaign to bring the question of the low-cost housing shortage to the attention of municipal planners and keep it there.

The veterans noted little or nothing has been done since the end of the war to alleviate the permanently deplorable housing situation in Princeton. They asked that immediate action be taken to plan and construct municipal housing with an average monthly rental of $45.

Mrs. Margaret T. Corey of 43 Palmer Square retired as chief operator at the Bell Telephone exchange in Princeton after 43 years of service, the last 15 here. Mrs. Marion T. Kauffman, 32 Wiggins Street, succeeded her.

The residents of Jugtown presented a petition asking that the bus terminal on Sergeant Street be moved from the neighborhood. Noise, gas fumes and waiting passengers all constituted a nuisance, they charged.

Bob and Joe Miller, operators of J.W. Miller's Sons, were concerned about a possible shortage of coal for Princeton furnaces in the coming winter. They urged residents with empty coal bins to fill them up now, while coal was in plentiful supply.

A revolutionary method of transmitting telegrams was set to go into effect at the Western Union Office on Witherspoon Street.

The messages would now be automatically relayed to their proper destinations by a reperforator machine located in the Philadelphia office. The transmission time for messages from Princeton would be reduced to a mere 15 minutes as opposed to an average time of an hour!
